Relaunch SkyHeli.ch – the independent
Swiss helicopter and drone magazine.

The publication for Switzerland's helicopter and drone industry

Switzerland is the land of helicopters. The expertise of helicopter pilots, load masters and rescue teams gained during aerial work and rescue missions in the Alps is in demand worldwide – the perfect link to the in 2011 successfully launched annual «SkyHeli.ch». The magazine covers the full spectrum of Switzerland's helicopter and drone industry: the challenges of training pilots and load masters, helicopter and drone missions of Swiss emergency and disaster relief organizations as well as the missions of heavy lift specialists who are in high demand worldwide. The magazine further comprises an extensive interview with a decision-maker and reports on the newest and relevant developments – such as aviation regulation – which are critically questioned. Awesome feature stories of specialist helicopter and drone operations and informations on technical innovations complement the contents.

«SkyHeli.ch» targets the following readership:

- helicopter and drone operators
- decision-makers of all companies of the Swiss helicopter and drone industry
- professional pilots (civil aviation and air force)
- employees of aeronautical companies and air rescue services
- load masters
- aircraft mechanics and specialists
- helicopter and drone enthusiasts
- all those «infected» with the rotor-virus...
